MBSYEP has created the platform to give District youth that same valuable learning experience, but it is incomplete without support from District Employers. This summer's success depends upon District employer involvement. We need private, non-profit and government sectors partners to sign up as Host Employers. The six-week program runs from Monday, June 27 to Friday, August 5; MBSYEP is open to ALL District residents between the ages of 14 – 24 who are eligible to work in the U.S. ; the Office of Youth Programs pays participant wages; and matches are made based upon participants' career interests and employers' identified prerequisites. Building a Brand: How to Create an Identity for Your Nonprofit that Works and is Legally Protected. The D.C. Bar Pro Bono Center is hosting the Building a Brand: How to Create an Identity for Your Nonprofit that Works and is Legally Protected video conference on May 18, 2016 from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. at DLA Piper, 500 8th Street NW. For most nonprofits, their names and logos are an integral part of their brand and reputation. In the age of cyber space, the rules surrounding your trademarks and brand are even more complex. This videoconference will discuss the building blocks for creating an organizational identity. It will focus on the basics of trademark law. What is a trademark and how do you protect the nonprofit's name and logo? We will also discuss trade dress—what it is, how you create it and why it is important. They will talk about how you take all the key elements—trademarks and trade dress—and create a brand that is distinctive, marketable and legally protected and more. To register visit <https://goo.gl/nNrf0R> . Register no later than May 13, 2016. If you have any questions, please contact: Lauren Paley at 202-737-4700, ext. 3357 or cedinfo@dcbar.org

Nonprofit Legal Clinic: Understanding Contracts. The D.C. Bar Pro Bono Center is hosting the Nonprofit Legal Clinic: Understanding Contracts workshop on June 1 from 9 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. at Morrison & Foerster, 2000 Pennsylvania Avenue NW. If your nonprofit organization rents office space, hires a fundraising consultant, or signs a grant agreement with a foundation, then your nonprofit is party to one or more contracts. Perhaps you've renewed your organization's lease multiple times, or have reused the same template when contracting for services from a consultant. You may have inherited a contract that was first written several years ago or signed a contract with a vendor you've been doing business with for years without really reading it, because you assume nothing has changed. But how well do you really understand your contracts? For example, do you know whether your organization's contracts contain: a promise to maintain certain types of insurance?; a provision that requires you to complete your annual audit by a specific date?; or an arbitration clause? If you don't understand all the provisions of your organization's contracts, you may be promising more than your organization can take on. At this clinic, co-sponsored by the D.C. Bar Pro Bono Center and Morrison & Foerster LLP, you will meet one-on-one with an attorney who will help review your existing contracts to ensure that you understand all the provisions that they contain, and to help you develop. To register contact Lauren Paley at lpaley@dcbbar.org or 202-737-4700, ext. 3357.

Nonprofit Legal Clinic: Understanding the Building Blocks of Good Governance . The D.C. Bar Pro Bono Center is hosting Nonprofit Legal Clinic: Understanding the Building Blocks of Good Governance workshop on June 10, 2016 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Kirkland & Ellis, 655 15th Street NW, Suite 1200. Good governance policies are a critical part of every organization's foundation, which is why the IRS Form 990 asks nonprofits to indicate whether they have conflict-of-interest, whistleblower and record retention policies. The IRS also has requirements regarding conflicts of interest and public disclosure of your tax filings, while the D.C. Nonprofit Code requires a nonprofit to maintain certain corporate records. But what should you do if: Someone comes to your office and demands to see a copy of your original IRS application for exempt status – do you have to give a copy to the person requesting one? What if you can't find it? or An ex-employee who left your employ eight years ago asks for a copy of his or her personnel file - should you provide it? While all Sec. 501(c)(3) organizations should have well-drafted conflict of interest, record retention and whistleblower policies, it is just as important that organizations educate their directors, employees and volunteers about the policies and develop a plan to implement them. At this clinic, you will meet one-on-one with an attorney who will help review and update your nonprofit's whistleblower and record retention policies and your conflict of interest policy and disclosure form. The attorney will also discuss with you the reasons the policies say what they do, and how best to implement them. Finally, the attorney will discuss with you some actions you can take now, so you know to handle issues when they come up. Registration is required please contact Lauren Paley at lpaley@dcbbar.org or 202-737-4700, ext. 3357
